Counsellor: Jude Neeme-Samson

Jude has over thirty years of experience in offering counselling and support for life's transitions, with end of life, and grief counselling as an area of speciality. He has developed his own approach to listening and developing the guidance that an individual or group can use through life's journey, allowing them to connect the challenges of a situation with what can be embraced as an emerging way forward.

Jude is an independent counsellor, teacher, author, group facilitator, and ongoing student of world philosophy and culture. His cross-tradition studies, which he has continued for the last twenty years, hold him in good stead to bring well-researched and open-minded insights into the questions of life.
